

THE OPERATION OF THE CHINESE DIGITAL MAGNETIC NETWORK AND SOME NEW FINDS

YANG DONGMEI<sup>1</sup>, Zhu Rong<sup>1</sup>, Yang Fuxi<sup>2</sup>

1. Institute of Geophysics, China Earthquake Administration,

e-mail: ydmgeomag@263.net

2. Urumchi Geomagnetic Observatory, Earthquake Administration of Xinjiang Uigur Autonomous Region, China, e-mail: yangfu@xj.cninfo.net

In China, the digital magnetic observatory network has been in operation since the beginning of the year 2008. In this presentation, the general performance of the network is introduced together with some new finds in noise analysis, abnormal change on daily variation of vertical component before earthquakes and the strange behavior of the suspended FGE magnetometers in humid recording rooms.

Magnetic network, general performance, new finds

Dongmei Yang, Institute of Geophysics, China Earthquake Administration, 100081, Beijing, China, tel: +86-10-68729362, Fax: +86-10-68473387,

e-mail: ydmgeomag@263.net